

Release notes – Sprint 1

Sprint goals

My goals for this sprint was to setup my backlog, define my project's purpose, plan and requirements and get everything ready for me to start developing it. I have defined my sprint goals more clearly in my Trello board.

Sprint achievements

- I have create my Individual Research plan
- Created a Proof of concept applications that serves to show how my applications microservices will work in conjunction with the RabbitMQ message broker
- Outlined functional requirements as user stories and added acceptance criteria for each one.
- Defined the backlog of the project which was based on said user stories.
- Initial version of my technical design – C4 diagram and technologies that I plan to use for different parts of the project.

Link to project management tool

Trello board

Code repositories

Code Repository